City Budget Set at $2.5 Million; Tax Rate Holds as Growth Ups Revenues

by Mary Lou Williamson

A small increase in the ability of the City of Greenbelt to provide needed services through personnel but with no raise in the 97c property tax rate — this was council's message to both city staff and citizens for fiscal 1979-80. Council easily approved the $2.5 million budget at its special meeting on June 4, taking only an hour and a half to work through the 150-page budget, adopt each section individually after noting occasional additions and pass the required resolutions.

That ease is deceptive, however, for the council and staff, and to a limited extent, citizens have spent the last two months reviewing the budget in great detail. The real work had already been completed.

Council added one police officer (after January 1, 1980) and one mechanic (Public Works) to the list of new positions recommended by the city manager: 1 police officer (after January 1, 1980); 1 Administrative Assistant II, and 1 accounts clerk, part time (Finance Department).

Unmet Needs

In recent years the city has not kept pace with street repair needs, partly because there were not enough employees to do more work and partly for lack of sufficient funds in the budget. The parks crew is in a similar situation. There is more work to be done this year than can be accomplished by the crew.

Greenbriar and Windsor Green citizens came to the public hearing to ask the city for more police protection.

With the addition of 5 new positions, council has now begun to turn that trend around. Councilman Thomas X. White put it this way: "As we got into the work of reviewing the budget, we found there were needs that were not being met." The increased personnel needs of the city are a direct result of the physical growth of Greenbelt in the past several years. In addition, council and staff recognized that those needs can be expected to continue to grow as the city develops in coming years.

Revenues

Greenbelt has benefited from a 7.5% growth in assessed valuation, from increases in the admissions tax ($25,000 over last year's budget), state-shared income taxes (up 10%), and state aid for police protection (up $13,000 over this year's estimate). At the suggestion of the police, an additional $15,000 will come from doubling Greenbelt's parking tickets from $5 to $10. Revenues in all total $2,494,050, requiring $40,550 in surplus funds unspent from previous years to balance the budget.

Budget Breakdown

The General Operating Fund Budget increases are due almost entirely to the higher cost of personnel, energy and new materials.

Expenditures in the new budget total $2,534,600 — up $239,450 or 10.4% over last year's amount.

Classified employees will receive a 6% across-the-board pay increase to help compensate for a 10% rise in the cost of living. Fringe benefits will cost more: 12% rise in cost of retirement plan, 11% increase in health and life insurance costs and a 9% rise in other insurance costs.

(1) General Government Expenditures ($311,200) Council passed up the opportunity to raise its own salary, but did add $500 toward convention expenses. The city manager's salary was increased by $1,500 to $32,000. New positions are: (1) Administrative Assistant II ($15,973) and (2) accounts clerk, part-time ($4,936). New equipment will include office furniture and a new sound system for the council chambers ($4,800).

(2) Police Department ($652,600) Two new officers who will be hired sometime after January 1, 1980, together with the purchase of four new squad cars, should allow the department to fully implement 3-sector patrolling of the city, according to requests made by Chief See CITY BUDGET, p. 3, col. 1

Donald Volk Elected GHI President, Jim Smith Steps Down After 7 Years

by Barbara Likowski

Donald Volk was elected president of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. at a special meeting of the board, Thursday, May 31. Volk, who was reelected in May to a two-year term, has been a member of the board for the past eight years and had served as vice-president for four years. He also served on the long range planning committee, engineering and maintenance committee and finance committee, most recently serving on the aesthetics and environment committee.

Other officers elected were: Wayne Williams, vice-president; Margaret Hogensen, secretary and James Foster, treasurer. Sitting on the board for the first time was newly elected director Ed James.

Stepping down as president, James Smith cited his increasing job responsibilities as his reason for not being able to take on the presidency once again. Although he wouldn't have time enough for the job of president, Smith, who has served in that capacity for seven years, felt that he would still be able to continue as a member of the board. Smith spoke of the board as "an exciting place to serve the corporation." Former GHI board president Charles Schwan commented that Jim was the best of the last five board presidents he has known, while Shinderman praised Smith's "calm, deliberate manner and good judgment."

President Volk expressed the hope that members will continue their interest in the corporation, which was evident in the recently conducted campaign, by joining committees and becoming involved in the work of the corporation.

Director Roberta McCarthy tendered appreciation to former board member Steve Polaschik. She cited his reasonable solutions to problems the board has had to deal with, especially on the member complaints committee.

Ad Hoc Committee Report

Since the board meeting was a special meeting, no business could be conducted unless it appeared on the agenda. Smith did permit attending members to speak, however, and, with the board's consent, accepted the report of the ad hoc committee to investigate charges of a former employee. However, the board had to postpone discussion of this report until a later regular meeting.

Chairman of the ad hoc committee Robert Willhide reported that the allegations of the former employee had not been substantiated. He pointed out, however, that the committee had been unable to contact the employee, who had left the area without making any effort to contact the committee or to leave a deposition, tape or message. Attorney Al Ginsberg also had been unable to contact him. "It is difficult to get two sides when one exists and one is gone," he said.

Willhide did mention that the committee had been unable to find any previous record of reprimand in the employee's record. There was only one reprimand — for exceeding his authority — signed by three supervisors, which appeared somewhat unusual to the committee.

Financing Prospects

Manager Roy Breashears presented the board with a bleak picture on financing available for resales of GHI homes. At present there are 51 units on which a sales contract has been written that are awaiting financing. Twin Pines has money available for a few loans and the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union has indicated that no money will be available until around August. GHI has approached several other lending institutions and two indicated interest.

Breashears also informed the board that the Housing and Authorization Bill for 1980 is now before Congress. He urged members of the corporation to write to Representative Gladys Spellman and urge that the provision permitting the Federal Mortgage Corporation to purchase cooperative housing resale loans from savings and loan institutions be reinstated.

Decision on Laurel Hill

Since the corporation has received notice from the county that the buildings at 10 A-H Laurel Hill Rd. must be razed, because they are on unstable land, Breashears reported that notices had been sent to tenants asking that they leave by July 1. Breashears has been approached by the fire department with a request that it be permitted to burn the buildings under strict controls, after everything of value has been removed. The buildings would be burned part by part as a training program. The board was concerned over possible problems involved in this . . . who would clean up, who would be responsible in between fires, how much would a salvage company cost instead . . . ? A decision was postponed until further information could be obtained.

Breashears informed the board that, because of skyrocketing costs two or three proposals and recommendations on rehabilitation will be presented to the board at the next meeting. He also told the board of the difficulty in getting workmen to work on insulation under the frame homes because of the heat.

Rehabilitation Figures

Early in the meeting, during an added membership participation period, member William Offenbacher asked that a letter from Kenneth Minor of the Community Development Administration be read into the minutes by Kopstein. When Kopstein attempted to explain the letter, member Bettie Denson insisted that it be read first. Kopstein obliged. The See GHI BOARD, p. 4, col. 1

GOVERNOR SIGNS DEVLIN'S GHI REHAB LOAN BILLS

by Edith Beauchamp

Governor Harry R. Hughes signed two bills into law Tues., May 29, to help finance GHI's rehabilitation program. The two bills, sponsored by Del. Gerard F. Devlin (D-24th), had passed the Maryland General Assembly at the "eleventh hour" on April 9.

One of the bills would authorize the Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) to make individual mortgage loans to residents of co-operatives to refinance or rehabilitate their homes. The other would clarify the power of the Maryland Housing Fund to insure the loans.

The Community Development Administration (an arm of DECD) funds may be used to finance the Member Options part of the GHI rehabilitation program. Members of GHI who wish to make additional improvements to their homes above and beyond the rehabilitation improvements undertaken by the corporation could apply to borrow the money through the CDA program at rates much lower than those provided by private lending institutions. It is particularly important for lower-income residents who wish to participate in the rehabilitation program but could otherwise not afford it, as these people would be able to borrow at interest rates below 8%.

According to a Rehabilitation Planning Study conducted by consultant Mark Beck Associates, Inc. in January 1978, "A loan from CDA, if obtainable, backed by insurance from the Maryland Housing Fund, for a large part of the rehabilitation improvements at an effective 7 to 7½ percent interest rate, might serve as the lowest cost type of financing."

Legal Problems

The consultants were originally suggesting that the CDA loan be obtained for the $5 million in rehabilitation the corporation was initiating, but legal problems developed because of the nature of the ownership agreement within GHI. The member contract with GHI conflicts with DECD specifications that DECD have the priority or first lien on the property.

Under the CDA program authorized by Devlin's bills, an individual member could apply for the funds through a single-family program. It is with the multi-family program that the problems arise. Negotiations with DECD for financing part of the corporation project are on-going, however.

The problem of the first lien was the same issue that prevented GHI from obtaining federal insurance on any federal loans to finance the corporate rehabilitation project.

Other Methods

Other methods of financing the corporate project are also being negotiated, the most recent suggestion being a municipal bond issue by the city of Greenbelt.

Devlin's bills do not limit loan opportunities to the rehabilitation or Member Option projects. The ability of the Maryland Housing Fund to insure loans on co-operative units will provide the security that private lenders have needed to be able to provide equity loans with interest rates at or below the rest of the housing market.

POSTAL SIZE STANDARDS TO BE EFFECTIVE JULY 15

On July 15 the Postal Service's new size standards become effective. Emory A. Harman, Greenbelt Postmaster, said that after that date, envelopes and cards measuring less than 3½ inches high or 5 inches long will be returned to the sender if mailed. According to Harman, the envelope and greeting card industries have had more than three years to prepare for the new standards. Few retailers should still be selling undersized pieces, but many consumers are likely to have smaller envelopes and cards in their supply of stationery.

In the future cards must be at least seven thousandths (.007) of an inch thick. Undersized pieces and flimsy cards are being banned because they can become trapped in other mail, tear and jam mail processing machinery. The new standards also affect oversized and odd-shaped pieces of mail, Harman said. For first-class mail weighing one ounce or less, there will be a surcharge of 7 cents for pieces more than 6½th inches high or 11½ inches long. The postmaster suggests that customers check with a post office window clerk for more information.

June, Rec. and Parks Month

June has been officially designated Recreation and Parks Month in Greenbelt, to coincide with the national observance. This year's theme is "Balance Your Life Through Leisure". In Greenbelt, programs are sponsored by many community organizations and supported by dedicated volunteers, who along with city staff members strive to provide meaningful leisure outlets to improve the quality of living for residents, young and old alike.

"The wise use of leisure time provides the opportunity for a fuller, more meaningful life," says the Recreation Department staff. For information on the variety of city recreation and parks programs and facilities call the Greenbelt Recreation Department at 474-6878.

MISGIVINGS CLARIFIED

To the Editor:

Speaking for myself and Bettie Denson we flatly and unequivocally deny starting or perpetuating any rumors or distorting facts. If . . . (Mr. Hogensen) had not looked on our intentions with a jaundiced eye it would be quite clear that we neither started rumors or distorted facts. We were merely trying to cut away the fat and get at the meat of a problem. The said problem being gross lack of information of issues of great magnitude to the membership. Also please note the date of the letter from C.D.A. is April 23, 1979. We do regret that (Mr. Hogensen) chose to misconstrue our intentions or failed to pay full attention to the proceedings of the board meeting. With this off our minds we can breathe a sigh of relief that we do not have to beg forgiveness.

Addressing myself to the point of Bettie Denson's use of a cassette recorder, I fail to see why this would be just cause for casting aspersions on anyone's motive or integrity. In this day of space age products a cassette tape recorder is a commonplace convenience item. It serves not only as an aid to review proceedings of a previous meeting but is also helpful for the members who may have come to the meeting late and wish to hear what transpired before their arrival. Also, . . . some of our members suffer a hearing deficiency and would appreciate having the opportunity to hear the meeting in clarity at their own leisure. This is nothing more than a courtesy they should be extended. A tape recorder at the board meeting is not a new innovation. Bettie was not the first to use one nor will she be the last.

I trust this has clarified any misgivings that (Mr. Hogensen) may have had stemming from the board meeting of May 31

RESOLUTION

A Resolution congratulating the Reverend Kenneth Buker and Katherine Buker on the occasion of their 60th Wedding Anniversary

WHEREAS, it was said by Horace centuries ago that "Happy and thrice happy are they who enjoy an uninterrupted union, and whose love, unbroken by any complaints, shall not dissolve until the last day;" and

WHEREAS, on June 17, 1979, Kenneth and Katherine Buker, who have been blessed by such an uninterrupted union, will be celebrating the 60th anniversary of their marriage; and

WHEREAS, the observation of an anniversary always marks an important milestone, but the observance of an anniversary celebrating six decades is a very special occasion; and it is a privilege that we can share the joy of reaching this remarkable milestone with Mr. and Mrs. Buker; and

WHEREAS, in celebrating the 60TH ANNIVERSARY of the day on which they promised to share their lives "for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness, and in health," they can be proud of the fulfillment of a commitment they made to each other; and

WHEREAS, this commitment they made was evidenced by sixty years of love and caring for each other, by years of devotion to their children and their families; and they upheld this commitment by sharing the daily joys and sorrows, the laughter and the tears, that came their way during those years; and

WHEREAS, Kenneth and Katherine Buker not only upheld this commitment to each other but extended it to include their larger family — their congregations, their fellow citizens, their friends, and their neighbors — and their concern for each other was also evidenced by their concern and service to others; and their love in each other and their pride for each other was reflected in their love and pride in their community and their country; now, therefore,

William T. Lane. (Both White and councilman Charles Schwan would have preferred three, but the extra money was not available in the budget). The State has raised the cost to Greenbelt of the MILES computer terminal (up $6,500). New equipment includes two portable radios ($1,300), 10 radio scanners for squad cars ($800), and a typewriter ($800).

Public Works ($468,700) Six major street repair projects including some curbs and gutterings are planned for this fiscal year, to be financed through a 5c tax rate contribution to the Reserve for Capital Improvements totalling $39,500. Slated for repairs are parts of Crescent Rd., Laurel Hill, Hillside, Lakecrest, Edmonston, and Springhill Lane.

Council raised the tax rate contribution by 2c this year in an effort to keep up with inflation and provide the funds needed for street repair.

A second mechanic will be hired to help maintain the city's sizeable fleet of motor vehicles. The city currently has "just one mechanic on the force to maintain our equipment, which is almost impossible," said Mayor Richard Pilski. The mechanic hurt his back recently and is scheduled for major surgery; another employee has been filling in. Pilski was struck by the thought that if anything happened to this second man, the city's entire fleet could become immobilized.

Waste collection charges will go up 5%. The current 6-day work week will be reduced to 5.

The only levity of the evening came when it was Councilman Richard Castaldi's turn to move for the approval of the next item — $900 for the maintenance of the city cemetery.

"Would this be considered a conflict of interest?" inquired Castaldi, the owner of a plot.

"Only if you use it," quipped an amused Councilman Charles Schwan.

The Board will meet tonight, June 14, at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room. The Aesthetics and Environment Committee will meet June 18, 8 p.m., to discuss the Design Book and frame siding.

Members who are handy men or women, particularly those who are retired, are invited to put their names on a list to do work in GHI homes. Work such as carpentry, plastering, painting, etc. may be required on an occasional basis by those who are not regularly employed. Those who would like to be on such a list, please call Sandra Barnes, 474-5566.

Members are reminded that special trash — those bulky items which do not go in the trash container — should be placed on the service side of a member's own yard and not in the common area along roadside or in front of someone else's home. As soon as the trash is placed out, please call the special trash number, 474-8004. It is very unsightly to have mattresses and other debris cluttering the common areas.

State. Council added $3,300 to replace an equal amount recently cut from the county budget. The Youth Services Bureau with three full-time and three part-time personnel works mostly with troubled youth at the elementary and junior high school level utilizing a large number of professional people who volunteer their services. Castaldi estimated the value of these services at about $25,000.

Recreation and Parks ($578,600). Utilities and increased personnel costs account for the slight increase in the recreation budget over last year.

Extensive resurfacing of the inside of the swimming pool will be paid for with Capital Improvement Reserve funds ($27,000). Repair of the tennis courts on Braden field ($12,000) fell victim to the need for pool repair funds.

Contributions

Several changes were made in the contributions to independent recreation organizations within the city, increasing the total amount by $300.

Organization	Contribution
Boys, Girls Club	$4,800
Aquatic Boosters	1,300
Winter Swim coach	450
Greenbelt Concert Band	500
Band Director	1,000
Greenbelt Little League	2,450
SHL Baseball	1,050
Greenbelt Running Club	225
Greenbelt Tennis Assn.	375

Parks

The parks crew will have its hands full next year installing new equipment in the GHI neighborhood playgrounds. The play equipment has already been purchased with Community Development Block Grant funds.

At PRAB's request council has added as a special objective for this year the breakdown of the major cost of the department — labor ($160,800). PRAB wants to see how the money is spent: how much on the Lake Park, Braden Field, Springhill Lake Golf Course, etc.

Giese reminded taxpayers that because of inflation they would face an 8% increase in the tax dollars they will pay, even though the tax rate will remain at 97c.

Council, however, expressed pride in the ability of the city to hold the budget to an increase of 8% in a time of double-digit inflation.

Giese's Budget Comments

THE STATE OF THE CITY

In his budget comments City Manager James K. Giese outlined the "increasing demands" made upon the staff. The elderly housing project, for example, placed "tremendous extra demands, also . . . new undertakings resulting from new development and re-development together with the added work load accumulated from past programs and increasingly complex state and federal regulations."

"The city is at a very important point in its history," Giese continued. "What happens in the next few years will impact greatly on the future life of the city. Three major commercial developments . . . could significantly improve the economy of the community and reduce the tax burdens of its residents . . . (It is important) to assure that that development is of high quality with minimal detrimental impact . . ." These developments have asked for low cost city financing of street construction and improvements. "Such financial assistance will require additional demands upon the city staff . . . Such cost may be reimbursed through . . . service charges.

"Equally as important to the future of the city . . . is the rehabilitation and historic preservation of original Greenbelt . . . While supportive, the city has not been able to devote the staff time to assist in this effort . . . It is essential to the economic well being of the entire community, and particularly to the adjacent single family residential areas that the original homes be brought up to current day housing standards and not be permitted to deteriorate in the way that has happened to communities of older homes in other parts of the county.

" . . . Council has expressed the desire to pursue major undertakings for improving the quality of life within the community" . . . better transportation services, development of open spaces. Grants may be available, but will require added staff time."

letter referred to a request, over a year ago, by GHI for 100 units of Section 8 assistance from CDA for GHI's rehabilitation program. In order to get the request in early, GHI had had to give some figures concerning the probable cost of the rehabilitation program. Since no definite plan had yet been formulated, the only figures available at that time, were those made by the Mark Beck report from the Planning and Rehabilitation Study $16,000,000. Once the board, management and committee members had decided on what the priorities should be, the cost was cut drastically down to $5,000,000. CDA was not informed, later, of the correct figures because 325 units of Section 8 assistance were approved by NSA and CDA funds were no longer needed. The letter, dated April 23, 1979, was using the old, outdated figures.

Member Geraldine Hussey, 9-S Research Rd., informed the board that contrary to what had been reported in the News Review, she did not intend to put windows in her unit and "turn around and pay for somebody else's." Smith explained that the board is concerned about encouraging individuals to proceed on their own with rehabilitation projects. If enough people did so, it would relieve considerably general financing. However, it does make it difficult to figure out equitable costs. There are going to be general, across-the-board costs that will have to be paid by all members, he said. No action could be taken on that problem because this was a special meeting.

Use of Reserves

To a member's statement that GHI reserves were used to build the new townhouses, both Schwan and Shinderman explained that reserves were not used for the townhouses; instead, conventional loans were taken out. Shinderman also explained that the four free-standing homes, however, were built with reserves since loans could not be obtained because the property was mortgaged to the federal government. The only way to provide for construction money was through the use of the reserves. This money is being paid back in monthly

Conroy Driver Ed Bill Signed By Governor

Governor Harry R. Hughes signed into law recently the bill to continue state funding for driver education in Maryland schools. Senator Edward T. Conroy, chief sponsor of the measure stated, "Without this bill, driver education in our public and nonpublic schools in Maryland would have been a memory. (The bill) continues to provide this most important safety measure in our schools... without additional cost to the over-burdened taxpayer..."

State funding for the Driver Education program would have ended July, 1980 without Conroy's bill. With the new law, 85 percent of the funding for the program will be provided through the initial cost of the license and 15 percent will come from the State Transportation Trust Fund.

Conroy to Receive Award

Senator Edward T. Conroy this year has been selected to receive a certificate of appreciation from the Maryland Municipal League in recognition of his successful efforts on behalf of Marylanders who live in municipalities.

Conroy was the floor leader on the bill that amended the highway user revenue formula providing a more equitable share of the state-shared revenue to the cities and towns amounting to $675,000 in new revenues for fiscal year 1980.

The veteran Prince George's Senator also pressed for the legislation that returned the unallocated income tax withholding dollars to counties and cities of the State.

As a result of the two bills Greenbelt will realize about $46,000 in new money from the State this coming fiscal year without any tax increase.

Upon investigating a call by Officer Murray concerning a disorderly man at Legion Drive and Lakecrest, the man was arrested and charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Apartments on Ridge Road and in Springhill Lake were broken into. However, nothing was reported stolen. An apartment on Mandan Road was entered and various items were reported stolen.

A 24-year-old Greenbelt man has been sentenced for distributing obscenity material, according to Arthur A. Marshall, Jr., State's Attorney for Prince Georges County.

He had previously pleaded guilty on April 30 in the Circuit Court to distribution of obscene matter.

Judge James H. Taylor, who presided over the matter, sentenced the offender on June 4 to probation before judgment and three years active probation. The maximum penalty for such an offense is 30 days imprisonment and a $100 fine.

Three apartments in the Springhill Lake area were reportedly broken into last week. Two were entered via patio windows during the late night hours while the tenants were at home and the residents' purses were taken. The other incidents occurred during daytime hours and a 10-speed bicycle was reported stolen. A residence on Greenhill Road was entered during the late night hours, while the residents were sleeping. A stereo was reported taken. An unoccupied apartment on Mandan Road was also entered and a washing machine was stolen. Investigation is continuing in these cases.

Four of Greenbelt's new police officers will begin the required entrance level training on June 4. at the Maryland Toll Facilities Academy in Baltimore. The class, which is required by the Maryland Police Training Commission, will continue until August 21, providing over 400 hours of training.

Pfc. Watkins spoke to the 34 students of the Partridgeberry School recently.

Beltsville Grange Celebrates 90th Year

Several Greenbelt residents took an active part in the 90th anniversary celebration of Beltsville Grange, held recently at the College Park United Methodist Church. Among them was Blanche Lee, recently completing ten years as secretary of Beltsville Grange, who was chairman of the historical display and phone committees. Carrie Harper was in charge of table setting for the one hundred people present. Mary Barstow, Past Master of Beltsville Grange, handled name tags, and Lenora Kimball served on the dinner committee.

The Grange was founded in 1867 by Oliver Hudson Kelley. Mary-tion, Health, and Recreation at the University of Maryland. Sarah has just completed her Freshman year and maintained a 4.0 grade point average.

Greenbelters Anne Marie Charter and Baca Cockburn were recently inducted into the Slavic Honor Society at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. They are studying the Russian Language at ERHS.

The Run for Life on May 19 sponsored by the Eleanor Roosevelt Honor Society and the Greenbelt Running Club netted $3550.97 in pledges for the Heart Association of Southern Maryland. 100 out of 130 runners ran in the rain.

Congratulations to the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Buker who will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary June 17.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Buddy) Attick who celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary last week. Buddy is the former Director of Public Works for the City of Greenbelt.

James McEvoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McEvoy, 111 Julian, received a B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Sister Kathleen received a B.S. degree in Nursing from Georgetown University.

Our deepest sympathy to John Snoddy on the death of his father Thomas Snoddy.

Phil McConnell was inadvertently omitted from the list of Eleanor Roosevelt students who were recently inducted into the National Honor Society.

land State Grange was organized in 1874, and Beltsville Grange #179, now the oldest Grange in Maryland, was chartered in 1890. Past Master Leroy L. Hurley (1938-1939), now a Florida resident, owned the farm on which Greenbelt was laid out. Dr. Linden S. Dodson, a pioneer in Greenbelt, was Master in 1942.

The Grange is a family fraternal order with an agricultural background and point of view, and a special interest in the legislative process and in community service. In recent years Beltsville Grange has raised hundreds of dollars with an annual October Sidewalk Sale first developed by Blanche Lee and Mary Barstow. Funds raised are donated to Melwood Horticultural Training Center for training handicapped young people.

A Greenbelt Profile Hank Irving

by Linda Orenstein

Recently the Maryland Parks and Recreation Association, Inc. (MPRA) honored Harry G. "Hank" Irving, Greenbelt's Recreation Director, as its "Member of the Year." The award was presented to Irving by outgoing MPRA President, Darold G. Lofgren, at a ceremony held on April 20 in Ocean City, Maryland. Lofgren, by chance, had been Irving's predecessor as Recreation Director. The award recognized Irving's efforts in his capacity in the last two years as Treasurer for MPRA.

As a result of his labors the organization now enjoys a tax-exempt status and holds an exemption from state sales tax. Irving reorganized the budget, carried out various auditing and accounting procedures, and generally displayed a great degree of dedication, accuracy and accomplishment. On the same occasion, Irving received a plaque from the Greenbelt City Council, an expression of appreciation for his service as Recreation Director, and a Gold Medal previously conferred upon him by the National Sports Foundation for his guidance of Greenbelt's recreation program.

Irving, a native of Maryland, attended St. John's High School in Washington, D.C. There he participated in varsity football and baseball. He then spent two years as a drill sergeant, stationed at Ft. Gordon, Georgia. Irving went on to earn his Associate Arts degree in Recreation and Park Administration from Prince Georges Community College and his Bachelor of Science degree in the same field from the University of Maryland in December of 1971; in 1976 he completed his Masters degree in Recreation and Parks Administration at the University of Northern Colorado. In the interim, he began his career with the City of Greenbelt in July of 1973.

Irving serves as District Commissioner for the Amateur Softball Association and is a member of the National Recreation and Park Association. He resides in Beltsville with his wife Maureen and his ten-month old twin daughters, Kelly and Christine. If the mention of his award doesn't bring a smile to his face, an inquiry about the twins surely will, and of course a proudly shown picture in the bargain.

When congratulated on the gold medal award, Irving parried the gesture and insisted that the honor could be attributed to the teamwork of the personnel at the Recreation Department and to the cooperation exhibited by the departments within the city. He emphasized that the program is what it is because of the city's "traditional orientation toward community recreation." Irving maintains that this policy injects the strength the center needs and that support is also drawn from the work of volunteers. Irving noted that Greenbelt had the first public recreation agency in the state, an institution that has continued to be an integral part of the community.

The city, according to Irving, is now actively involved in the renovation of playgrounds within Greenbelt. There have been four new playgrounds installed in the last three years and approximately fifteen others will be renovated. The refurbishing will entail the upgrading and replacement of equipment. Bid contracts have been awarded for the work and progress depends to some extent on the availability of the Parks Department crew. The improvement of the old ballfields, the completion of the landfill ballfield and the addition of one more baseball field with overlapping soccer and football fields are all part of the program to increase recreational facilities. Other improvements have been made in cooperation with the Board of Education in the upgrading of ballfields at Greenbelt Junior High and North End Elementary School. Irving estimates that the Boys and Girls Club program, Springhill Lake Baseball, Little League and all the sports - football, baseball, softball and soccer - contribute to a total of 2,000 games played a year. "The responsiveness of the city council to citizens and the recommendations of the Park and Recreation Board (PRAB) have brought about these improvements and additions", states Irving.

The Recreation Department provides services to all ages and strives to include special populations, the elderly, retarded and handicapped, in its sphere of activities. "Let's Play to Grow", sponsored by the Kennedy Foundation, is a program for the handicapped and learning disabled in a recreation setting. The Department has always worked with the elderly by way of the Senior Citizens Activity Center and the Golden Age Club, Irving explained and added that there will be special effort placed on the integration of Green Ridge House into the community. The residents of the elderly housing project attend activities at the Youth Center and programs may be offered at Green Ridge House itself in the future.

Irving related that the Recreation Department will put an even greater emphasis on its special programs. It is involved in the Greenbelt Coop Council, a group composed of Greenbelt Junior High, the Board of Education and the city, which would like to see the school facility utilized more for recreational purposes. The proposed classes would not duplicate those offered by the city or the county. The department is also involved in interagency cooperative efforts and works with citizen committees, the Prince Georges Citizens Association for the Retarded, the American Red Cross, the Southern Maryland Heart Association and others.

Irving says that the responsibility of the Recreation Department to provide a wide range of activities from the basics to special programs is even more important now because of the energy crisis. "The department must offer programs nearby; parks for families; opportunities for all ages."
